

Senior Market Structure Analyst

Rosenblatt Securities Inc. – New York, NY

Job Description

Rosenblatt Securities is seeking an experienced Market Structure Analyst to join its industry-leading Market Structure Group in New York, NY.

The Market Structure Analyst's responsibilities will include:

- Keeping up to date on market structure and related regulatory developments, with a focus on US equities but also encompassing other asset classes globally
- Authoring and co-authoring written reports for clients on market structure and regulation
- Helping to develop new products and services, including regular reports, as well as improve existing products and services
- Assisting with consulting projects for which the group is engaged by clients, including identifying potential projects and responding to RFP/RFQs
- Assisting with Rosenblatt events, including market-structure roundtables and the firm's annual Global Exchange Leader Conference and European Market Structure Conference
- Interacting with clients and prospective clients, through phone conversations, in-person meetings and at conferences and other industry events
- Potentially representing the firm at industry conferences and in the media

Successful candidates will possess the following qualifications :

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent from an accredited college or university; graduate degree a plus
- 2-4 years' experience working as a publishing analyst in a market-structure group at a bank, broker, asset manager, research firm or similar entity
- A passion for market structure
- Well-developed network of contacts at exchanges, brokerage firms, asset managers, technology vendors, regulatory/legislative bodies and other entities involved in creating, using and administering market structure globally
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Ability to explain, in terms understandable to laypeople, the complex nuances of market structure
- Ability to organize and compose clear, well-argued, in-depth written reports on various market-structure and regulatory topics
- Facility with statistics and presenting them as the basis or support for written reports and presentations on market-structure and regulatory topics
- Willingness to accept constructive criticism and continuously improve
- Capacity and desire to work as part of a team
- Commitment to treat colleagues and external constituencies with respect and decency

- Unimpeachable personal integrity, including but not limited to a commitment to comply with all rules and laws governing the firm's business and relationships

Rosenblatt offers a competitive compensation and benefits package.

Rosenblatt Securities is an agency broker in US-listed equities, serving institutional investors through its upstairs trading desk as well as on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, where it is the largest broker by volume. The firm pioneered the field of market-structure research more than a decade ago and is a leading source for independent analysis of trading, market-structure and regulatory issues. For more information on the firm, please consult www.rblt.com

Job Type: Full-time

Application Questions

You have requested that Indeed ask candidates the following questions:

- How many years of Publishing Analyst in a Market-Structure experience do you have?
- Have you completed the following level of education: Bachelor's?
- Are you in New York, NY?
- Are you willing to undergo a background check, in accordance with local law/regulations?